DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because

- a) The lettering is not standard and the lines are not uniformly thick.

Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled “Replacement Sheet” in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 10 is objected to because of the following informalities:

- a) In claim 10, line 1, “the optic fiber” lacks antecedent base.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 5 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fitz (6,236,789, cited in IDS) in view of Ruffa (6,072,928, cited in IDS).

Fitz discloses strands (20) forming a core (20 +12) of the cable; and a holding member (12), wherein the holding member replaces at least one of the strands, optical fiber is heat resistant (see col. 4, lines 25-32),

However, Fitz does not disclose:

- a) the holding member containing a temperature sensing means. Ruffa discloses the holding member (16, 26) containing a temperature sensing means, therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention for Fitz to have the holding member containing a temperature sensing means in view of Ruffa to monitor the heating of the cable.

5. Claims 1-7, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wijnberg (5,150,443, cited in IDS) in view of Ruffa (6,072,928, cited in IDS).

Wijnberg discloses conducting strands (18); reinforcing strands (20-23) surrounding the conducting strands and located near the outer periphery thereof (see figure 2); and a holding member (16) located in an interstice of the electrical cable, the holding member is located in an interstice formed by the reinforcing strands, the holding member is located in an interstice formed by the conducting strands, holding member is located in an interstice formed by the reinforcing strands and conducting strands, strands (18) forming a core (15) of the cable; and a holding member (16) containing an optic fiber (inside 16), wherein the holding member replaces at least one of the strands, optical fiber is heat resistant (see abstract), the strands are comprised of reinforcing strands located near the outer periphery of the core and conducting strands that are surrounded by the reinforcing strands; and wherein the holding member replaces at least one of the reinforcing strands, the holding member replaces at least one of the reinforcing strands near the conducting strands, a second holding member (17) that replaces at least one of the conducting strands.

Note: Terms “interstice” and “replaces” are uncertain and very broad terms.

However, Wijnberg does not disclose:

- a) the holding member containing a temperature sensing means. Ruffa discloses the holding member (16, 26) containing a temperature sensing means, therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention for Wijnberg to have the holding member containing a temperature sensing means in view of Ruffa to monitor the heating of the cable.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
